Raw comment data

The best features of Zdravko Botev's teaching were

Comments
I appreciate the above and beyond approach, particularly the material 'jam packed' into the last lecture.
Very clear explanations of concepts. Great lecture slides.
If the students don't know the question he would give him hint during lectures
He is quite nice and patient.
The tutor encourage students a lot.
Willing to explain in more detail when people were having difficulties with the material.
The teaching/writing derivations on the whiteboard was very mathematically rigorous. The explanations for these algorithms are very understandable. He provided a vital guidance on where we needed to focus in terms of understanding the principal idea of a certain topic better.
Would always have time to listen to and answer questions. Gave multiple opportunities for class participation. Would provide much needed comic relief in a late night lecture.
Zdravko was very knowledgeable about the topic areas and was clear in his delivery. I felt is was important to attend all lectures as there was useful material every week.

Try writing on a device during lectures (and projecting the image) and making those notes available as a PDF. Means more concentrating on what is being said rather than worrying about transcribing it.
na
Be more fluent in lecture
Some times student can not see the white boarded, scanned notes could be provided Using more examples not just derive the lemma.
all good.
Increase the amount of material posted to Moodle (in typeset form), reduce the amount of material written on the whiteboard (which has legibility issues and increases chances of misunderstanding the material.)
all good so far.
